1. A hard surface, all weather road [F924] runs from Arad eastward to Beva. Another hard surface, all weather road [F924] runs from Arad southward to Timisoara and from Arad the same type of hard surface, all weather road [F924] runs northward to Salonta.
2. These roads are over two lanes wide and are designed for heavy usage. The roads are considered to be first class highways in Rumania. The roads have a good solid foundation and are asphalt surfaced. A minimum maintenance is required on these roads. The roads run through shallow rolling hills and high speeds could be attained on these roads.
3. Two concrete-steel bridges are located south and southeast of Arad. Both cross the Muresul River which flows east and west. One is a highway bridge and the other a railroad bridge. Both bridges are in very good condition. The highway bridge is over two lanes wide and is able to absorb heavy usage.
